Canada Thistles A Crop Menace

Mrs. M. Stellwagen Lifelong Mokena Resident Dies

Mrs. Mary Stellwagen, 80 years, lifelong resident of the Mokena territory, died Sunday in the Silver Cross hospital where she had been a patient for several weeks.

She was born August 24, 1864 in Frankfort township near Mokena. Her parents were Elizabeth and Jacob Schiek. October 29, 1886 she was married to John Stellwagen also of Frankfort township. She resided on a farm north of Mokena all her life time.

Her husband, John Stellwagen, preceded her in death February 5th, 1938.

Surviving are two sons: Ralph of Orland township and Earl of Mokena; two grand children, three great grand children, two brothers George Schiek of Tulsa, Okla. and Jacob Schiek of Chicago.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the Sonntag Funeral Home in Joliet with burial in St. John cemetery with Rev. Wm. Riemann officiating. The deceased was a member of the St. John Evangelical church since 1879 and a member of the Women's Guild of this church.

See any member of the WSCS for tickets. There will be a display of fancy work and you can get any number of lovely articles for gifts at small expense.

OBSERVE 50TH ANNIV. OF BENSONVILLE HOME

The 50th anniversary of the founding of the Evangelical Home for Children and Aged at Bensonville will be celebrated Sunday with an all day festival for friends and alumni.

The home caring for 87 children and 55 aged from neighboring counties, is supported by the Evangelical and Reformed Churches in Chicago and vicinity.

The Rev. Herman E. Koenig, president of the board and pastor of Salem Evangelical church in Chicago will speak at the morning worship at 11:00 o'clock and preside at a mortgage burning ceremony in the afternoon. The Golden Jubilee service will take place at 3:00 pm. at which time the Rev. Alvin J. Munsterman, Superintendent of the home will speak. The title of his address is Expanding Horizons in Christian Welfare. Later there will be a children's program depicting fifty years of progress at Bensonville Home. Lynn Huffman will conduct the Bensonville Municipal Band in a concert at 5:30 pm.

Dinner will be served in the Children's dining room and in the Gymnasium from 11:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Refreshments will be sold at an outdoor booth also. Many people plan to take basket picnics. All buildings are open for inspection. Pony rides will provide entertainment for the children.

There will be no services at St. Peter's Ev. church in Frankfort Sunday, as the members of the congregation and the pastor will attend the Festival at Bensonville.

ROCK ISLAND MAKING RIGHT OF WAY IMPROVEMENT

The Rock Island has been using bulldozers and huge road building machinery in cutting down brush and weeds and leveling off humpy spots along side of their right of way west of New Lenox and also east of New Lenox. This work is done to provide for better drainage. Big drain tiles also have been installed along the right of way in the New Lenox territory. Fordson tractors with moving machine attachments have been operating in Mokena this week cutting down weeds and brush along the right of way.

RADIO SERVICE GRADUATE

Among those graduating recently from an intensive course of Radio Fundamentals training at Service schools at Great Lakes, was Howard G. Cooper Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Cooper, Orland Park, Ill. His training has been designed to fit him for a specialized Navy job in the long Pacific war ahead and also for skilled work in industry when peace comes.

Graduates from the ten courses taught at Great Lakes service schools are sent to sea, to shore stations or to advanced schools for further duty.

Dry Cleaning Plant To Open In New Lenox

New Lenox is already showing signs of rapidly expanding in business and when the postwar era arrives this town will boom as never before from present indications.

Another new business establishment is in the making. Howard Hutchins, of Chicago is remodeling the Kennedy building formerly occupied by Otto Bormet's Service Station on Lincoln Highway in the heart of the town preparatory to opening a dry cleaning establishment. Mr. Hutchins has had 15 years of experience in this line and his type of business is greatly needed here and the predictions are that he will be given a very fine support not only from New Lenox, but from the surrounding towns as well.

The New Lenox Lumber and Hardware Co. is finding its farm machine repair business expanding so rapidly that they have been obliged to build another shop to take care of all this business. Excavation work has been under way the past week for the new shop.

Building operations are also under way on the new 100x46 foot business block which Sheldon Hauck is building along Lincoln highway also in the heart of town. Mr. Hauck is also contemplating building a new scale office.

3 DAY CARNIVAL AT TINLEY PARK FRIDAY

St. George's Picnic Committee suggests if you want to save yourself a lot of trouble this Sunday and have a pleasant day, come over to the church basement and enjoy a rare and delicious meal. We are endeavoring to have things as pleasant as possible. Naturally since the space is limited and assistants are not as many as we would like to have, we suggest that all should not try to come at 12:30 sharp. There is plenty for all and since we are serving from 12:30 until 5 pm. you can be served at any time during those hours.

The Ground committee tells us that they will have a variety of amusing games to entertain those who are waiting to have dinner and also for those who wish to remain after dinner.

We hope to see our many friends and fellow neighbors next Sunday, July 29.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT IT WAS 100 IN THE SHADE TUESDAY

The first heat wave of this summer was broken by a cool breeze Tuesday night. During the day the temperature reached 100 degrees in the shade. Smaller thermometers hanging in the sun were cracked by the intense heat which was greatly welcomed by the farmers as it had a very beneficial effect on the retarded corn crop which grew better than three and a half inches in 24 hours. Corn still needs much hot weather and especially warm nights.

GUEST SPEAKER TO OCCUPY PULPIT OF MOKENA CHURCH

Rev. Ruben C. Schellhase will be the guest preacher Sunday morning at the Tinley Park Methodist church.

Rev. Schellhase former pastor of the Olivett Methodist church in Chicago is on leave of absence this year to complete his work toward a doctorate in philosophy at the University of Chicago. The subject of his message Sunday morning will be "Christ In This Changing World."

HOLD OPEN HOUSE PARTY IN HONOR OF RETURNED SOLDIER

Pfc. John (better known as Junior) Kesser, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kesser of Kelvin Grove, Lockport, is home on a 34 day furlough the first since he entered the armed forces 29 months ago, 24 of which were served overseas. Junior was in the 200th Field Artillery, Battery C with the 1st Army in Germany. He served in 6 major battles and has 2 Bronze stars, 1 Citation and 1 Gold bar for bravery driving thru enemy fire. He sailed home on the West Point. He will report back to Camp Grant.

Junior was born and raised in Orland Park, attended the Elementary school here up to the 7th grade when his family moved to Goodings Grove and then to Lockport. He is a graduate of Lockport high school.

An Open House party was given in honor of Junior's home coming last Sunday at his parents home in Lockport. During the course of the day 84 relatives and friends called to welcome him home.

ORLAND WINS 8TH GAME OF SEASON

Orland won over Midlothian 4-1 last Sunday. Each team made 6 hits but Orland made them when they counted. Len Lysen went all the way to win his 6th game while losing none. Next Sunday Orland travels to Blue Island.

New Mokena Fire Apparatus Is Assured

In the past week, it was definitely shown by the number of pledges signed, that the purchase of fire equipment for Mokena, was assured. As this article goes to press, the incorporation papers are in Springfield for the Mokena Community Volunteer Fire Department.

Prior to the actual purchase of the equipment it will be necessary to hold a meeting of persons making donations, which makes them members of this organization, to elect trustees.

While a group was appointed at a former meeting there is no way now of knowing if everyone present at that time are now members.

Also by laws will have to be approved and possibly amended.

It is hoped before another week rolls around collections can be started as action on a government certification of the truck chassis should be started as soon as possible.

The Department is aware there is a large number of people who have yet to be contacted with pledge cards. Won't you please get in touch with someone on the committee which consists in part of Barney Hostert, Harold Miller, Stan Williams, Jim Marti, Geo. Bennett Lawrence Kohl, Elmer Cooper, Willard Marti.

We are not publishing a repetition of names printed last week. The following names were received in addition up to Tuesday night:

Wm. Bass, Everett Benson, Geo. Bisgrove, Sam Centers, Harold Fossum, W. B. Hamilton, Al Hentsch, Gilbert Homering, John Martin, Raymond McGuire, Lizzie Moriarty, M. F. Mumford, Fred Rauch, Geo. W. Steel, H. J. Tierney, Geo. Dath. Gilbert Hurley, Robt. Gilmore, Stanley Burgeson, M. H. Cummons, Wm. Mueler, Ebert Bros. Martin Smith, Wm. Heckt Jr. Geo. Klose, Elmer Bormet, Chester Gorney Jr. Wm. Schult, Clarence Lauffer, Loren Sass, Albert Van Pelt.

MOKENA GLOBE TROTTERS RETURN FROM WIS. TRIP

Col. and Mrs. Don C. Hall of Mokena, our noted travelers, have just returned from a 10-day Wisconsin trip.

They found Mr. Hall's sister, who is ill in her home at Janesville, Wis., somewhat improved.

The gold Elgin watches belonging to Mrs. Hall, which are famous throughout the country, had been at the National Watch Co., at Elgin, Ill., for repairs and on this trip they received them again, in good running order. The Halls will return to Wisconsin again in September when they will visit the O.E.S. at Stevens Point.

FRANKFORT PTA SUMMER ROUND UP BLANKS OUT

Mrs. Walter Harnack, chairman of the Frankfort PTA Summer Round-up, has announced that blanks have been distributed to parents of pupils entering first and fifth grades, and that more blanks are available in case some student has been overlooked.

Parents of these children are requested to take their children to their own physician and dentist for physical check-ups before the school term starts in September. This procedure is required by the new school statute and should be taken care of as soon as possible.

MOKENA METHODIST SUNDAY SCHOOL PICNIC TONIGHT

The Mokena Methodist Sunday school and Church will hold their annual picnic in the park back of the church this afternoon at five o'clock. Parents are invited. Each is to bring their own table service, a dish to pass own sandwiches and drink.

CHICKEN THIEVES APPEAR AT NEW LENOX

Chicken thieves have been reported active on Francis and North Cedar Road in New Lenox lately. One chicken owner coming home about midnight saw a car without lights parked in a driveway, but when he turned his lights on the car, three men were seen in it and they quickly pulled out. There were no license plates on the car. The poultry owners say they know who some of the chicken thieves are and are laying for them.

WOUNDED BY SHRAPNEL IN PHILIPPINE CAMPAIGN

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mohr of Goodings Grove have received word that their son Pvt. Bob Mohr has been wounded in the hand by shrapnel. Bob is in the Infantry serving in the Philippines on Luzon with the 37th division and sailed overseas on the same boat with Bill Davidson. The Mohr family are former residents of Orland Park.

Tinley Preparing For Centennial

The Centennial celebration sponsored by the Tinley Park Recreation Commission is to be held at Sanger Hall Grove October 5, 6 and 7.

Many new attractions will be offered at this celebration in the form of amusements. The committee on entertainment has already made plans for unusual entertainment. From early reports it seems that none will want to miss the attractions which will be presented. New and different games have been arranged for which will bring fun and laughter to the crowd which will gather.

Proceeds of this celebration will be used to help pay for the recreation park being purchased for the community by the Recreation Commission.

Widow Of Former Pullman Official Dies

Mrs. Eliz. Roney Morrison, widow of the late James T. Morrison, former president of the Pullman Railroad company, died last Saturday in the home of her daughter Mrs. Raymond McGuire of Mokena.

Surviving are one daughter Virginia McGuire, one sister Mrs. Anna Wilkins, one brother John Riley.

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock at St. Philip's Neri, 2232 E. 72nd St., Chicago. Burial was made in St. Mary's cemetery at Mokena.

FRANKFORT HOME BUREAU MEMBERS HOLD MEETING

Members of the Frankfort Home Bureau met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Geo. Elsner. Mrs. Elmer Bormet presided. The Secretary's and treasurer's reports were read by Mrs. Lawrence Kohl. Efficient Ironing Methods was the title of the major lesson presented by Mrs. Louis Holm and Mrs. Kohl. Miss Isabella Harmening, a guest, reported on the book, Tomorrow is Forever. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be a family picnic to be held at Nowell Park in Joliet August 19.

$200 IN CASH AWARDED AT ORLAND PICNIC

The annual Community picnic held at the Forest Preserve in Orland Park last Sunday afternoon and evening was a successful affair. The following cash prizes were awarded: $25.00 cash Beverly Powell, Palos Park, $15.00 cash Wm. Young, Orland Park, $5.00 cash Richard Pihl and Shirley Lorenz, Orland Park.

A total of $200.00 in cash was awarded. The proceeds will be used for the benefit of the Orland Park Community school.

S. SGT. EDWIN BRANDAU RECEIVES HONORABLE DISCHARGE FROM ARMY

The News Bulletin is advised that S/Sgt. Edwin G. Brandau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Brandau of Joliet, has received his honorable discharge from the U. S. Army at Fort Sheridan, Ill. on July 20, 1945.

Sgt. Brandau was inducted into the U. S. Army at the same place on Aug. 26, 1941 and spent 39 months overseas in the Southwest Pacific area with the 34th U. S. Infantry leaving the U. S. directly after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, going overseas in one of the first American military convoys dispatched for the defense of Hawaii.

He was transferred to Australia with his outfit when Japanese attack upon Australia seemed imminent. A member of Gen. McArthur's forces, he saw action in New Guinea, contracting the dread scrub typhus in that campaign, he was hospitalized, and fully recovered, to again rejoin his outfit in action in operations to liberate the Philippines.

Leaving the Philippines, back to New Guinea for rotation back to the U. S. last March he was allowed 22 days delay enroute with orders to report at Miami Beach, Fla. from where he was ordered to Fort Ord, Cal. where as a Pacific veteran he was assigned to instruction and indoctrination in battle tactic to U. S. embarks into that theater of operations.

He was mustered out wearing 4 battle stars, the American Operation ribbon, the Asiatic Pacific ribbon, the Philippines ribbon, good conduct Medal, Combat Infantry badge.

Edwin states the Japs are really tough, and in the Pacific it is destroy the enemy utterly, or he will surely destroy you, that Japanese Banzai charges are no myth but a fearsome and terrible experience to be a participant in. In short, that our Pacific enemy does not surrender, but fights until our or his death. And he is well equipped and ably led.

More Dope On New Lenox Incorporation

Telephone calls and letters have been received inquiring about committee officers' personal reasons for favoring incorporation. A poll revealed that most of them put street lights first and black top streets second. Water and sewer we know cannot be expected for some time, but they are next in order of preference.

The main desire of every member of the incorporating committee, however, is to obtain the right from the State for the people to work together for the common good. New Lenox has more than a dozen societies each doing a noble job in some phase of community living but there isn't a single effective group to take care of the general interests of all.

The State has provided for obtaining money to pay for our community needs. The tavern tax and the real estate tax from the three railroads in the area will be ours to use for lights and anything else that you may consider necessary such as police protection. The money from the gas tax and road and bridge tax will be sufficient to keep up the black top streets once they are put in. But we can't have that money until we decide that we want to take care of our own interests by incorporating. And until we do that about $3000.00 will keep going out of the community every twelve months and very little of it will be spent in the area from which it comes. Now you will understand why the number in favor of incorporating keeps growing.

After incorporation your real estate tax will be higher by 66 2-3c for every $100 assessed valuation. Some of this amount will be used to pay the men you elect to work for the common good. You'll pay them $3 to $5 a month and they'll be the best men, if you want them. And the actual cost to the average home owner will be about as much as it costs to have the Sunday paper, $5 to $6 a year.

But the more fundamental thing about incorporation is that you will be participating in the purest form of democracy—the kind of democracy for which our boys are dying. It is in communities up to one thousand families that democracy generally functions in its purest state. The Chicago kind of democracy cannot exist here, because there are enough right minded people who won't let it.

Call Les Brownlee, Geo. Koeller, Harvey Frick or Dean Bright today and join the Incorporating Committee. And if you know of misunderstandings about incorporation please tell us about it, so that a public explanation can be made. THE NEW LENOX INCORPORATING COMMITTEE

400 LB. PORKER ON LOOSE

T. J. Waples residing on Pine St., in New Lenox has reported to the Will County sheriff's office that his 400 pound sow escaped from her pen the other night. Anyone seen a porker on the loose?

BURGLARS AT FRANKFORT

Mrs. Louise Block of Frankfort recently reported the theft of all but one of her basement screens. The prowler evidently tried to gain entrance to the basement but was disturbed by Mrs. Block and her daughter Mable who heard him.

HOLD LAST RITES FOR JOHN WANNER F GREEN GARD

Funeral services were conducted at the Green Garden Methodist church Sunday for John Wanner 83, who died at Silver Cross hospital Joliet Friday. The pastor, the Rev. L. E. Winter, officiated and burial was at the Green Garden Cemetery.

Mr. Wanner, a retired farmer is survived by his widow, Mrs. Anna Krapp Wanner, two sons Alvin of Manhattan and Wm. of Peotone; three daughters, Mrs. Harry Tewes of Frankfort, Mrs. Arthur Bettenhausen of Joliet and Mrs. Carl Nagle Monee; eighteen grandchildren and six great grand children. A brother and two sisters reside in Switzerland.

VFW AUX. TO VISIT STATE HOSPITAL

Once a month the Auxiliary to the Wm. Martin Post VFW, of Mokena travel to the Kankakee State Hospital where are patients who served in World War one and two. These Auxiliary members bring a little happiness to these patients in different ways to help them while away their hours and which also helps in their re-habilitation.

The next trip to Kankakee will be Tuesday July 31, at which time they will conduct a Bingo party in the recreation hall for these patients.

The Auxiliary members are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. Morry Larson at 1 o'clock on July 31.

Commissioners of New Lenox and Frankfort Ask Aid

Canada Thistle Commissioners Edward Martie of Frankfort township and Edward Marshall of New Lenox township say the thistle menace this year is the worst it has been in many years. There is a very bountiful crop of Canada thistles which have been allowed to go to seed along road sides and in fields and subdivision lots.

The menace of this obnoxious weed is serious. Many fields have been infested with this thistle seed and many big thistle plants can be seen in oat fields and pasture land.

According to the Commissioners, farmers are very lax in cutting the weed and many vacant lot owners in subdivisions in both townships are equally negligent. It is for the good of every property owner to promptly and in eradicating this obnoxious weed whenever it appears on his property and to help eradicate it from adjoining property. If the thistle crop is allowed to grow unchecked farm lands and gardens as well as pasture lands will be so badly infested in another year that it will constitute a real problem. The Commissioners are doing all they can to cut down the weed wherever possible, but they need cooperation and plenty of it in order to successfully destroy the pest. Every farmer and lot owner is urged to do their part in cooperating with the Commissioners to cut down and eradicate the Canada thistle crop.

Local Newspaper Woman Enjoys Ride In New Piper Cub Super Cruiser Plane

The Prosperi Airport at Tinley Park had a special attraction Wednesday and Thursday of this week when the new Piper Cub super cruiser of 100 h.p. was demonstrated by Edward Prosperi, owner of the airport. The new plane is a sort of a pre-view of the beautiful deluxe job to be anticipated after the war.

Miss Adeline Semmler, of the Tinley Park Times, had the pleasure of taking a ride in this new plane.

The new model was flown by Mr. Prosperi to Washington Park, Chicago Heights airport and Harvey and elicited enthusiastic comment from air enthusiasts.

SOME RURAL POULTRY AND FRUIT RAISERS ARE IN J. WANNER, GREEN GARDEN

Poultry raisers in the rural sections are charging black market prices for their poultry. Small friers sometimes bring from 60 to 75 cents a pound altho the OPA ceiling price is 30 cents a pound. The other day a chicken dealer from Steger was caught by OPA agents at 95th street selling poultry for 100 percent over the OPA ceiling price. It seems the only reason why poultry raisers charge exorbitant prices is not that it costs so much more to raise chickens than it did formerly, but chiefly because people are making good money and are willing to spend it.

On the other hand poultry raisers argue that it costs them 80 cents to raise a frier. In this cost is figured the price of the chick, feed, etc. The OPA ceiling price of 30 cents a pound leaves no profit they declare and say that a 2 1/2 to 3 pound frier must bring a reasonable profit. A price of $1.25 for a 2 1/2 pound frier is said to allow a reasonable profit, but any price above that is in the black market class.

Another favorite way of sand bagging the public is used by roadside stands offering home grown fruits and vegetables. They soak the unwary buyer for all the traffic will bear. We know if instances where red raspberries are being offered for sale at 40c a pint or 80c a quart which certainly highway robbery. An other grower offers the same berries for 60 cents a quart. The same kind of berries can be bought in Chicago fruit stands for 32 cents a box holding a pint.

Country store keepers and city stores are equally guilty of profiteering. We ran across one instance the other day where a certain store was selling sardines at 27 cents a box which formerly sold for 10 cents. This is an outright black market price.

The reason why these sellers are getting by with their outrageous prices is because the public is willing to pay any price asked so long as they can get what they want. This brings on inflation. Don't pay any more than what a commodity is actually worth.

Such wild cat prices as cited are what brings on inflation. Even if you are making big and easy money do not pay exorbitant prices. If every one did this the profiteers would soon cut their prices.

Navy Floating Dock in Service

A completed floating dry dock shows eight sections which have been welded together, after having been towed separately for thousands of miles to an advance base. Complete with crane and other necessary facilities, this dock will afford rapid repairs to battle-damaged ships now in the Pacific waters. Hundreds of ships will be mended on the spot by this dock.

Directed Attack Against Japan

Isigny Cows Return to Fields

As if they knew that the bells of peace have rung in Europe, and it is time they had their grazing fields to themselves again, these cows wander idly into an ammunition dump on the road near Isigny, France. Thousands of head of cattle, driven away by Germans and battles, left to shift for themselves, are being divided among the farmers of France.

Champion Service Man's Family

Pfc. Wilbert L. Fleury of Port Huron, Mich., father of 13 children, 11 of which are shown in photograph with their mother, tops record of Cpl. Chester J. Barrett, formerly called the "Champion Dad of the Armed Forces." Two of the children were visiting relatives when this photograph was made.

Real Short Timer

Forty-two-year-old Sgt. Joseph A. Lowe of Atlanta, Ga., aircraft groundcrewman with the 7th AAF Fighters in the Okinawas, whose age makes him eligible to return home, takes no chances with fate. He is protected against everything but direct hit.

One Legged Pitcher

Lt. Bert Shepard, shot down after 34 missions over Germany, with the loss of one leg, recently pitched four innings against the famous Brooklyn Dodgers in a Washington charity game. He is shown warming up before the game started.

Queen of Freckles

No one is going to dispute the decision of the New York judges who named 11-year-old Frances Scully of Richmond Terrace, Staten Island, "Queen of Freckles" in the annual contest held at Children's Aid Society's playground. It really was no contest.

Half Victory Ours

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower stand in reverence over the grave of F.D.R. as General Eisenhower reported to his "chief," "half the victory is ours."

How to Don Traditional Sari Shown by Indian

The sari is the traditional costume for women in India. It is a one-piece garment, really just a long length of cloth, reaching from waist to ankles and fastened with a drawstring. It is six to nine yards in length and has neither hooks nor eyes, but may be elaborately embroidered. The wearer picks up the border of the sari with both hands and, with a quick twist of her body, wraps it about torso.

Baka Bomb No Longer Secret but Still Suicide

One of the latest secret weapons used by the Japs in a desperate attempt to stop the American advance westward is the "baka" bomb, Jap word for "fool," name given because it is controlled by a suicide pilot. The drawing shows how the Baka resembles a "flying torpedo." A suicide pilot controls the craft from the bubble canopy. Rockets in the tail section furnish propulsion. The bomb is launched from bomber.

Blue Grass Quadruplet Calves

Little Eve is the proud mother of quadruplets born on the farm of C. D. Lucas near Dyer, Ky. Little Eve is only 5 and her husband, Adam, 2 years old. Both are pure bred Hereford stock. The event of quadruplets among cattle is as unusual as among humans, or about once in every 850,000 births. Photo shows mother and children are doing well.

Keeping Flies Dry

Fisherman Lee Studeny of Pittsburgh "dunks" his flies in silicone oil before starting for his favorite stream. The oil keeps dry flies dry. It is derived from sand and coal in combination with brine. The fly will remain dry for a long period.

Come on In, Captivity's Fine!

A Jap prisoner of war and an interpreter broadcast megaphone calls to Japs hiding out in Okinawa, telling them that surrender to the Americans is their best bet. The broadcast is made from a landing craft offshore. Instructions to the hidden Japs are to come out unarmed and swim to the craft. Many accepted the invitations.

Shoots 'Round Curve

Captain Sharpe of ordnance headquarters in London inspects a German secret weapon, used to shoot around corners. It is more terrifying than accurate, despite special sights.

Thunderhead

MARY O'HARA
W.N.U. FEATURES

THE STORY THUS FAR: Thunderhead is the only white horse ever foaled on the Goose Bar ranch in Wyoming. He resembles his great grandsire, a wild stallion known as the Albino. His 13-year-old owner, Ken McLaughlin, hopes Thunderhead will develop into a race horse because of his remarkable speed. Thunderhead is difficult to handle however, and plans for entering him in the fall race meeting are uncertain. Meanwhile Rob McLaughlin, Ken's father, having to raise some cash for Ken and Howard's tuition and other bills, loads 14 horses into a trailer and drives to the auction at Denver, Colo. Rob gets poor prices. He gets acquainted with Gilroy, an eastern horse buyer.

CHAPTER XVI

"I'll sell them at Doc Horner's auction, in Setonville, Pennsylvania."

"When?"
"He has two sales a year, one in the third week of September, one in May."

"Do you expect to make a profit on them?"

The man grinned. "I sure will. Those are fine horses."

"Do fine horses bring prices at Horner's sales?"

"I go around buying up horses at country auctions. I collect a carload of them a couple of times a year and sell them there." The man reached into his pocket and brought out a bunch of cards. He shuffled them through, picked out one and gave it to Rob. "And they do bring prices. That's a hunting community. And polo. Horse, you know—people of wealth. Horner collects really good stuff and they bring good prices."

"What will you get for those horses you bought—the two blues, for instance?"

The man shrugged. "It's pretty hard to say. There's always an element of gamble in horse-trading you know—but that's a nice little pair—they'd be nice for a couple of little girls—so gentle and pretty."

"Yes. How much?"

"I'd be surprised if I got less than four hundred for the pair—if just the right buyer is there, six hundred."

"And big geldings? Polo ponies?"
"Ah—those are the ones you really get prices for. I've seen a polo pony—experienced, you understand—bring two thousand dollars. But that's not every day."

"You must know, in round figures, about what it costs to ship horses from this district to Pennsylvania—say two carloads—about twenty-four horses to a car."

They did some figuring. It would cost in the neighborhood of five or six hundred dollars.

Howard had two new suits.
Rob McLaughlin always said, "Get them clothes that will show every spot—that'll learn 'em!"

One of the suits was a dark blue serge guaranteed to show every spot. It was double-breasted. When it was on Howard, buttoned around him, he was hardly bigger than a young tree, but Ken felt his dignity and was awed.

The other suit was a silvery gray tweed, very becoming to Howard's slick black hair and good color. Both boys had fine skins; smooth, honey-tan and rosy. Both had blue eyes, but here was the difference—the changing shadows of Ken's, the bright, unwavering stare of Howard's.

Ken stared at Howard's new tan oxfords. They looked like his father's. How could they be so big! How could Howard be so tall! Ken stood in the middle of the room on one leg, breathing heavily. How could there have come, suddenly, this great difference between himself and Howard, so that he felt respectful? He looked down at himself. He was too small to count. Well, Howard had only done this shooting up in the last year—there was still time.

The most impressive moment was when Howard put on the Fedora hat. The nearly six feet of his slender height had done nothing to his head and face. The head was so small you wondered at it up there, and the face was the face of a little boy. Topped by the Fedora hat—! Nell had to turn away to hide her laughter.

Ken began to feel very close to life with Howard going away like this. The Fedora—the long blue suit—the huge Oxfords—life was an enormous hollow to the right side of him. It was as big as the world. It was gray and filled with darker gray clouds, swirling about. Often he turned his head and looked into it.

Howard going away to West Point! Well, almost West Point. He'd learn how to walk the West Point walk. All their lives it had been fun—it had been an exciting stunt to get their father to walk the West Point walk for them. When they begged him to do it and at first he paid no attention and then suddenly stood up and then stepped out, it always struck them dumb. You could feel something at the roots of your hair. At times he had tried to teach it to them—right foot and left arm and shoulder forward—left foot and right arm and shoulder forward—the knees lifted high (just for practice) feet going in a circle like the curving trot of a horse. But it was like trying to command the wobbling legs of young colts.

When they went to the movies and, in the newsreel, saw the shot of the West Pointers marching, they strained to catch the details of the walk before it was flashed off.

Howard had an odd walk. He slouched. When he tried to stiffen up and do it correctly he had a little jerk. It wasn't smooth.

"What'll they say about that?" asked Ken anxiously.

Rob roared, startlingly, "There goes McLaughlin bouncing in line!"

This was the last straw for Ken. It removed Howard utterly. At intervals during the day, the words rang in his ears, there goes McLaughlin bouncing in line. He wasn't even Howard any more. He was McLaughlin. And he was in the line!

To save expense, Howard was to go east with the shipment of horses his father was taking to Dr. Horner's sale. The railroad allowed one man to each carload of horses, free of charge. There were to be two carloads. Every horse on the ranch, three years old and up, was to go, and a few of the twos who had had enough training. In all, forty-eight horses.

Howard sat talking to his father in the den, one ankle hanging across the other knee just as his father did it. "Dad, how about selling Highboy to help out with my tuition?"

"Good idea, son."

Taggart was to go. She was a good polo player. Gypsy, Flicka, Thunderhead and Touch And Go would be enough to keep for the family. In the spring there would be a new crop of two-year-olds.

"There's always an element of gambling in horse trading, you know—"

The days went by for Nell in misery and confusion. Rob had not forgiven her. Indeed, since the auction, when he had sacrificed some of his best stock for a few hundred dollars, he had been, she said to herself, fit to be tied.

She tried to think it out. Had she done anything so terrible that she must be punished like this? The thing she had done—her criticism of him—had shattered the illusion that he was perfect in her eyes, and a man of his pride and self-confidence simply could not take it. Most of the time, when he looked at her, his face had an expression of sardonic animosity. Occasionally it was worse than that—it was like a blow. And all the love and tenderness was gone.

One night, before going to bed, she went into Ken's room for a moment. He lay on his back in the moon-flooded room, the sheet thrown off, the pillow on the floor. He was spread-eagled—arms and legs thrown wide. His breath came evenly. The top button of his pajama jacket was fastened. From there it was drawn away by the twist of his body exposing the thin, bare, frail-looking torso of a child. The legs of his pajamas had slid up, one foot hung limp over the edge of the bed.

His face was blissful, his lips parted in an ecstatic smile! Dreaming of Thunderhead, thought Nell, as she gently turned, straightened him, replaced the pillow and drew up the sheet. It did not wake him, he had felt these hands since his birth. He made a murmuring sound, rolled on his side, drew up his knees, gave a deep sigh and was instantly quiet again—breathing deeply and regularly.

Nell went on down the hall to Howard's room. There was a line of light under his door. Howard was standing half naked, examining his physique in the small mirror over his chiffonier.

"Howard! Why aren't you in bed?"

"Gee, Mother! I was just standing here a minute—" His voice slipped down to bass and they both laughed and it slipped again.

"How's your muscle?" asked Nell.

He flexed his arm. "Feel it, mother! What do you think? I was wondering if I was getting a little bit muscle-bound."

She squeezed the small egg of his muscle and looked solemnly at him. His shoulders were narrow, his smooth chest very childish, his ribs stood out bravely over a little waist she could almost have clasped with her hands. But she had to reach up to slip her arm around his neck. He gave her a shy, naked hug and she laid her cheek against his.

"What do you think?" he insisted.

"No—I wouldn't call you muscle-bound. Howard—go to bed. You must get your sleep."

On the day before the departure Rob, with Howard and Ken as flank riders, took the horses over to Tie Siding and penned them in the loading corrals there. Not a horse on the Goose Bar ranch but knew what was happening.

Next day the horses were loaded. Rob led them up the ramp one by one, reassured them with his voice, put them in their places. They were sardined in—head to tail, alternately, tightly enough to support them and hold them steady when the train was moving. At certain stations there would be long enough stops for the horses to be taken out, fed, watered, walked around.

Nell watched them go up the gangway. Taggart, Highboy, Pepper, Hidalgo, Cheyenne, Tango, Injun, and a lot of others. If things had been different between her and Rob—perhaps she wouldn't have felt so terribly. It seemed like an end of things.

Rob and Howard were dressed in bluejeans for the trip. When the horses were loaded and the big doors closed, Rob came to stand beside her near the car. He was very quiet, almost drowsy. There had been no shouting. His thoughts were all for the horses—he hardly seemed aware of her there beside him.

"I often wonder," he said meditatively, "if we should ever have anything to do with animals or ever do anything for them. We make them helpless. Without us, they take care of themselves so well, but when we have once taken charge of them they depend more and more on us, and what do we do but harm to them? And yet they look at us so trustingly."

Nell found no words to answer. She was wondering if in the moment of goodbye his hard shell would crack. Would there be, when he put his arm around her and held her against him while he kissed her, any reassurance, any promise, any warmth?

Rob and Howard were to ride in the day coach next to the freight cars in which were the horses. While they waited they all stood near the steps of this car. The brakemen were attending to the last business they had in the station. Up front, the engineer was hanging out of his cab window. He waved his arm, and at the call "All a-bo-board!" goodbye kisses were exchanged and Rob and Howard went into the car.

As Rob bent his head for the kiss his eyelids had covered his eyes. The kiss was as cold as a knife. But when he had taken his place in the car with Howard, while Howard and Ken grinned and waved at each other, through the window, mouthing words, he did look at Nell and meet her eyes. And it was one of those hard looks by which he served notice on her that she had offended him and was not forgiven.

Eat something, said Nell to herself, as if she were speaking to a child. You'll feel better if you do. You must.

But she continued to stare out the window, sitting in the arm chair in her bedroom wrapped in her dark blue robe, her feet drawn under her because of the chill that filled the house. There was no fire on the hearth and the bed was not made and her hair was not brushed.

It was one of those raw October days that should be shut out by fires and curtains and cheerful voices. On some such days Nell worked furiously from dawn till dark, cleaned and mended and made new curtains and counted and took out and packed away and potted geranium slips and cleared the flower borders. And there were other days when, if she moved at all, it was to wander listlessly, pausing at every window, wondering what she had come into this room for, wondering if it was morning or afternoon—what day of the month—

Gus's heavy tread was on the stairs, coming slowly. He rapped on the door.

"Come in!"

"Bring you some wood, Missus."

"Oh, I haven't used up what's here."

"You must have fire."

"It's not very cold."

Gus knelt down, removed some of the ashes, laid and lit the fire, and carefully brushed the hearth. As he got to his feet he threw a quick glance at Nell. Her gaze was on the fire now, the lips of her soft mouth parted. There were dark hollows under her eyes and her face looked both old and childish.

Gus started to speak, hesitated, then came out with it. "How de Boss come out mit selling de horses, Missus?"

GOD'S PROMISE OF A NATION

LESSON TEXT—Genesis 17:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT—I will establish my covenant between me and thee and thy seed after thee in their generations for an everlasting covenant, to be a God unto thee and to thy seed after thee.—Genesis 17:7.

God keeps His promises. It may have appeared that God had forgotten, but He had not, and in our lesson we find Him ready to fulfill His promise.

We need to learn the lesson of patience, of awaiting God's time for the carrying out of His purpose. He is not in any hurry, but He always arrives on time. If we travel life's way with Him, all will be well.

Abram found the fullness of God's blessing because he sought His will for life and service. We find him

I. Walking in God's Plan (vv. 1, 2).

The place of blessing is not in some cloistered refuge where the circumstances of life and its problems cannot disturb us. It is out in the daily walk with God, in the home, the office, the shop.

What is God's plan for the life of the believer? Just what He told Abram: "Be thou perfect." Nothing less will do, for He is a perfect God. His law is perfect (Ps. 19:7). He requires a perfect obedience to the perfect law (James 2:10). This was His standard for Abram, and it can be no less for us.

How shall we attain to it? Only in Christ can we meet and fulfill God's plan of perfection.

That means that as followers of the Lord we are to seek His power for the outworking of His grace in our lives. We are not to be content with a Christian life on a low standard or lacking any of the graces which God can give us.

We, too, must recognize that if God is to give us His full measure of blessing, we must walk in accord with His will, walking in the light as He is in the light (I John 1:7). Much of the failure and impotence of present day spiritual life is explained by the willingness of Christians to live imperfect lives.

II. Talking of God's Purpose (vv. 3-8).

Abram fell on his face in adoration and worship. Inevitably and humbly, he put himself in the place of subjection and service.

What happened? "God talked with him" (v. 3). This man was ready for a holy conversation with the Lord. His attitude of body was only the outward expression of an attitude of heart which was right. So God and he talked about the purpose of the Lord for Abram's life.

He had been Abram, which means, "exalted father," that is, of a family or a tribe; now he became Abraham, "the father of a multitude."

This is the first of many instances in Scripture where a name was changed by God to mark an important event, or a change of heart. For example, Jacob "the supplanter" became Israel, "a prince with God" (Gen. 32:28); Simon became Peter, "a rock" (Matt. 16:17, 18).

The letter to the church at Pergamos speaks of the one who overcomes in Christ's name as having a new name written which no man knows save he that receives it (Rev. 2:17). The believer on Christ is a changed man, a new creature, whether his name be changed or not. God wants to change men—has He changed you?

The promise is renewed to Abraham. It was to his "seed," that is, his descendants. He took the blessing from God's hand, accepting things that as yet were not, as though they were. God is able to make them come to pass (cf. Rom. 4:16-18).

III. Trusting God's Promise (vv. 9, 10).

Down through the ages every man in the great host to descend from Abraham was to bear the outward token that he belonged to the covenant people. This was to be a symbol of and to lead the recipient into that attitude of heart which would bring outward rite into fulfillment as an inward reality.

Observe that after Abraham, it was always the parent who thus brought the son into the covenant. This speaks of the parental responsibility to bring the little children to the Lord, and it also gives us the precious assurance that God is interested in the children and ready to receive them at the hands of parents, taking them into His own tender care.

Thus down through the generations, Israel was to show their faith in God, their assurance that He would keep His promises to them, and their consequent eagerness that their families should be counted into the covenant with God.

Christ is ready and eager to undertake for our children. His grace is sufficient, not only for us, but also for those who come after us. His promise is to our "children's children" (Ps. 103:17, 18), "of such as keep His covenant." Let us trust Him, and put ourselves and our children in that place of obedience where He may bless us and them.

Coxswain Geo. E. Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Murphy of Chicago has received a Citation from Adm. Kinkaid for distinguished service aboard the USS Chandler a destroyergulf Jan. 7.

The Citation reads in part: Coxswain Murphy showed courage and keen judgement in the rescue of survivors from a torpedoed destroyer mine sweeper during the early morning hours of Jan. 7.

Also required to perform his task in darkness he rounded up the survivors and delivered them safely to his ship. So effective was his work that night that not one man was left in the water at daybreak. His actions saved the lives of many seriously wounded men who were in need of immediate medical treatment.

Coxswain Murphy was awarded a Commendation ribbon which has been added to his 7 battle stars. He enlisted in the Navy 33 months ago after he graduated from high school. He has served 22 months in combat duty. George is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Murphy of Tinley Park. His younger brother Harry who has just recently graduated from Calumet high school has enlisted in the Navy to follow in his brother's foot steps.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 22, was:

"LIFE"

The Golden Text was:

"Now that the dead are raised, even Moses shewed at the bush, when he calleth the Lord the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him" (Luke 20:37, 38).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Fight the good fight of faith, lay hold on eternal life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses. I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession; That thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ" (1 Tim. 6:12-14).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The understanding that Life is God, Spirit, lengthens our days by strengthening our trust in the deathless reality of Life, its almightiness and immortality. This faith relies upon an understood Principle. This Principle makes whole the diseased, and brings out the enduring and harmonious phases of things. . . . The way is straight and narrow, which leads to the understanding that God is the only Life. It is a warfare with the flesh, in which we must conquer sin, sickness, and death, either here or hereafter, certainly before we can reach the goal of Spirit, or life in God" (pp. 487, 324).

To greens that feed and nourish the childhood of today, For a more complete tomorrow in the Democratic way.

The regular meeting of the Tinley Park Garden club was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Fulton July 19.

THOMAS E. DEWEY

Says:

"The means by which our present unity in war can be preserved in the peace to come is the vital problem of our time. It seems to me that much of our success in war has come from the sense that every individual has a personal job to do. While there has been a maze of regimentation, some necessary, some inexcusable, our strength at home has come wholly from the genius of our free men in industry and the devotion of our workers and our farmers to their jobs. Our success or failure after the war will depend on whether we take to heart the lessons the war has taught us. If we permit the continuance of the regimentation which some so earnestly desire, we shall fail."

Our Strength at Home

Planless Planners

A COMPLICATED VEST

Springfield, Ill. — Federal Judge Charles Briggie recently took material for a vest to his tailor. The tailor said he could not make a vest because of a War Production Board order. The Judge wrote a polite letter to WPB concluding with, "Please, may I have a vest?"

Ponderous WPB machinery was then set in motion. The case was referred to the appeal branch of the textile, clothing and leather bureau of the New Deal agency. Eventually, Judge Briggie received a stern letter asking him to explain more in detail his need for a vest.

Wrote the Judge: "My reason for requesting permission to have a vest made was purely on a common sense basis. I own the goods and have enough to make a vest. I thought this situation might appeal to one's ordinary common sense."

WPB replied: "Based on your representations and on the recommendations of the textile and leather bureau and pursuant to paragraph F of Order L 224, the provisions of the above specified paragraph are hereby relaxed to the extent required to permit you to have a vest made from the material you own."

"Sure I can be a Nurse's Aid

THANKS TO MY
AUTOMATIC RANGE"

"How can I be a Volunteer Nurse's Aid two days a week and still cook for my family? Why, my modern range takes care of that.

"I prepare the food in the morning, slip the complete meal into the oven and I'm on my way.

"While I'm busy at the hospital, the automatic timer turns on the oven... and when I, and the rest of the family get home, a delicious dinner is cooked to perfection, ready to serve.

"Believe me, I'm glad we have a modern range. It's fast-cooking and marvelously clean. Another thing—it never heats up the kitchen in the summertime, either.

"I think the modern Range is the last word in modern cooking."

"I never did believe in standing over a hot stove all afternoon. Even before I decided to be a Nurse's Aid, I took advantage of the automatic feature of my range. It's simple as ABC. So, if you have an automatic range, make the most of it."

Civil Air Patrol, Squadron 613-3
by 2nd Lt. Erlene Conel

Attention: All members of Sqdn. 613-3 are urged to attend an inspection and review to be held at 15 o'clock, 29 July Sunday, at Rubinkam Airport. Come in uniform, which is preferred, or in civilian clothes. Be there if at all possible. This will be one of the most important reviews and inspections of Squadron 613-3 ever held. It will be made by Wing and Group Staff Officers. —By order of Squadron 613-3 Commander, Capt. Neil Kingston.

Attention: On Wednesday, August first, the 38th Anniversary of the Army Air Forces, Civil Air Patrol Cadets are scheduled to parade thru Chicago's loop. The leaders of the AAF which has grown into the greatest aviation group in the world, consistently state that the strength of America depends on our being more and more air-minded, and that Civil Air Patrol Cadets are a potent means of teaching fundamentals of flying.

NEWS

Welcome back to Capt. Kingston, who recently returned from a well earned vacation.

A Piper Super Cruiser was on display Wednesday, July 24 at Prosper Airport. Speaking of Piper, I wonder how many folks realize that Piper Grasshoppers, (and other small planes) have made a beautiful record for themselves in the war. The "Grasshopper" for instance, is a special version of the Cub Trainer. Equipped for Army observation and liaison work, its extremely low landing speed of 38 miles per hour permits it to work in little space, and land almost on a dime. Not carrying any firepower, these "Grasshoppers" by flying low and having the ability to turn and weave in small radius, have often evaded high powered war planes of enemy nations. Undoubtedly, much has been learned on the battle field, and incorporated into the new planes that will bring a new High in Safety, and Comfort for civilian flying.

W/O Floyd Orrington recently made his fifth successful parachute jump, putting his feet on terra-firma of Sky Harbor airport. Want to know how fast in seconds you fell, Floyd, before your chute opened? Just divide the distance in feet that you fell by 16, and then extract the square root. For instance, if you fell 144 feet, divide by 16 and get 9. The square root of 9 is 3. In other words, for that distance you had a freefall of three seconds. The above example is based on vacuum time. Atmospheric conditions would effect the answer only minutely.

That's all for now.

Boise, Idaho

July 16, 1945

Dear Mr. Semmler:

My address has been changed from dear old Texas to Sqdn. AAAF BU Gowan Field, Idaho.

This is beautiful country out here. The mountains have wild deer and the streams abound with fish so on my days off I go into the mountains and take advantage of what Idaho has to offer.

I certainly enjoy receiving the News-Bulletin its just like a letter from home. It keeps me in touch with the things that are going on in the home town.

I'm a gunnery officer and instructor pilot at a combat crew training school. Its very interesting work and I enjoy every minute of it.

Sincerely yours,

First Lt. Robt. R. Slagle

Greater Need Of Mother and Infant
Care Is Apparent

"The increasing number of newborn babies abandoned in Chicago emphasizes the need for greater knowledge of the facilities for mother and infant care," stated Mrs. Frances H. Higgins of the Women's Service Division of the United Charities of Chicago. "In spite of all the information published regarding the care of such unwanted children, girls still do not know of this service. There are many agencies in the city providing medical care for the mother, placement of the child for adoption, foster home care or whatever other arrangements the young mother wishes. Her confidence will in every way be respected, and the matter treated with the utmost secrecy."

Last year the Women's service division handled 899 such cases and cooperated with other agencies which either have their own facilities for adoption, or use one of the placement agencies in making suitable plans.

Mrs. Higgins pointed out that an abandoned baby has to be kept under the observation of an agency for a long period of time before he can be safely placed. If a girl does not want to keep him, she should go to an agency equipped to help her, preferably some months before the child is born, and he can then be placed much more readily because his background is known.

WHO have been the best comedians baseball has known in the last 40 or 50 years? This thought came bounding along after reading Al Schacht's merry and interesting tome known as "G I Had Fun."

Dizzy Dean

Al Schacht is certainly one of the members of the king pin row. One of the first of these was Crazy Schmidt, an unconscious humorist, who pitched for Cincinnati several decades back. Others include Arlie Latham, Rube Waddell, Tacks Parrott, Ping Bodie, Germany Schaefer, Nick Altrock, Sherry Magee, O'Neil of the Cardinals and Dizzy Dean. There have been many others but these are the ones who still remain longer in memory.

Crazy Schmidt went out to pitch with a glove, a baseball and a notebook he carried in his hip pocket. The contents of this book noted the weakness of every man he had pitched against—a high one or a low one—a curve or a fast one. As the batter came to the plate Schmidt would take out the notebook containing some 100 names to check on his weakness.

"What have you got written against Hans Wagner's name?" one of his teammates once asked.

"A base on balls," Schmidt said. Germany Schaefer was one of the stars in this field. He was then playing second base for Detroit. I recall a game years ago where Schaefer was playing in Cleveland. Around the third inning it began to rain. During the fourth inning it poured. Tommy Connolly was umpiring and Germany kept squawking to have the game called. Connolly refused.

When the fifth inning opened Connolly looked around and found Schaefer playing second base with high rubber boots, a raincoat, a Gloucester fisherman's hat and holding a big umbrella over his head. Connolly charged Schaefer with a roar and told him to remove his deep sea make-up. Schaefer refused. "I have a very bad cold," he told Connolly, "which is now bordering on pneumonia. If I get rid of my rubber boots, my raincoat and my umbrella I will be in the hospital in less than two hours and I will certainly sue you and the league." Connolly called the game.

Schaefer had a keen, quick wit and could always draw a laugh. Waddell had the Athletics goofy by buying a mockingbird owned by the proprietor of a popcorn and peanut stand that had a whistle attached. All the mockingbird could do was wake up the entire floor shortly after daybreak by singing his only song—the song of the peanut whistle, with an added screech.

Ping Bodie and Dizzy Dean

It was the immortal Ping Bodie with the Yankees who bought a parrot and spent weeks teaching said parrot to keep saying over and over—"Ping made good"—"Ping made good."

But after all, Dizzy Dean in many different ways was the top of them—outside of Schacht. Dizzy was loaded with pranks, as well as pretty homely wit.

There was the time in Florida when Dean had reported as a rookie from the Texas league. Jimmy Wilson, the veteran catcher, began missing his silk shirts. Finally Jimmy caught Dean bedecked in one of these garments and the idea of a raw rookie wearing his silk shirts was too much to stand. He started in to bowl out Dizzy when the rookie stopped him cold with this comeback:

"Now wait just a minute, Jimmy," Dizzy said, "you wouldn't want the greatest pitcher baseball has ever known to go around a month wearing a single shirt, would you?"

Jimmy let him have the shirt. I was walking with Dizzy by a hotel in Bradenton one day when he said he had a phone call to make. He was gone some time. He finally came out wearing a wide grin.

"Well," he said, "I just called up Sam Bredon in St. Louis. I told him I had changed my mind about signing for any $20,000. We had a long hot argument. He threatened to have me thrown out of baseball. We musta argued 20 minutes. Then I finally told Sam I had already signed and sent my contract in."

"What was the idea in doing that?" I asked.

Dizzy grinned, "I had the charges reversed and it cost Sam $43."

There was also the time on a blistering day in St. Louis, temperature 112, the crowd melting, when suddenly a wisp of smoke came up in front of the Cardinal bench. There sat Dizzy decked out in a heavy overcoat, warming his hands in front of a fire he had just built.

And I still recall his classic remark after his arm was about gone when he was warming up for the Cubs to pitch a world series game against the Yankees.

"How you feeling, Diz," I asked. "Well," he said, "I ain't what I used to be. But who in hell is?"

WASHINGTON QUIETEST IN YEARS

The District of Columbia looks more like a peacetime capital this summer than in many years. . . . For the first time since the war, the house is now planning a long recess. . . . This reflects increased congressional confidence in the new White House set-up, also the fact that many a legislator yearns for home. . . . The dollar-a-year men and brass hats who planned to check out after Germany's defeat haven't started their exodus. Instead they've been joined by hundreds of business men who've moved in to get their reconversion headaches unsnarled. . . . Thousands of returning officers and enlisted men from Europe have added to the housing and feeding problem. Parking spaces along the Potomac are crowded on hot nights with G.I. Joes and G.I. Janes and government workers searching for a cool breeze. Washington is more peaceful, but still jammed.

Adding to the crush are the Truman boys who have descended on Washington. . . . They fall into three categories: (1) The Missouri boys, friends of Truman and Bob Hannegan looking for jobs, patronage, and juicy political plums. . . . (2) The Pauley boys from Southern California—friends of former Democratic Treasurer Ed Pauley who've rushed into town to climb on the gravy train. They're brash and crude for the most part, have little respect for the taxpayers' money, and already have their eyes on the gilded dome of the capitol. . . . Third group are the "Battery K" men. These are the World War I vets who saw service with Harry Truman in 1917 and 1918. Most are satisfied with a brief "hello" and a handshake from their hero. Others cling to the wrought iron gates of the White House, think that their comradeship with the new chief executive is a guarantee of a soft government job.

Truman Heyday

Truman's own aides in the White House are still impressed by their new surroundings. . . . Some feel that Truman's rise gives them a blank check to use his power for their own ends. . . . One youthful aid has been bragging about having Truman's political enemies shadowed, their wires tapped. . . . Truman, a sworn enemy of wire-tapping when in the senate, will probably clip their wings soon. . . . Most powerful man in the Truman entourage is chubby, cigar-smoking Brig. Gen. Harry Vaughan, one of the "Battery K" boys, who buzzes considerable advice into his chief's ear, but now finds it being accepted with less frequency. . . . The hangers-on are still having a field day around the White House.

Center of administration power has partly shifted from the White House to the second floor of the Mayflower hotel, where Bob Hannegan holds forth in Democratic headquarters. . . . Judge Welburn Mayock, the committee's new general counsel, uses the office to lobby for California oil interests. . . . George Kilham, the new treasurer of the national committee, who has been using a meat-ax to collect money for the committee from business men may find himself chopped down soon. . . . One ardent Democratic supporter of many years' standing hearing about Killiom's tactics, said, "He'll collect so much money we'll lose in '48. Everyone he taps for $5,000 will feel like contributing twice as much to the Republicans to boot the Pauley crowd out."

Meanwhile little is happening to set the stage for Democratic victories in the congressional elections next year. . . . Hannegan is already in hot water with labor, particularly the CIO, which he has been studiously ignoring. Labor leaders, who poured out millions to help Roosevelt last year, claim they can't even get a glass of water from the Democrats when it comes to bucking oppressive legislation in congress, and are now making threats to move over to the GOP camp.

Republicans Harmonious

Farther up Connecticut avenue at Republican headquarters things are harmonious. . . . The Republicans are sitting back, are quietly laying the groundwork for a high-powered congressional race next November. . . . What they need most of all are some issues. . . . GOPsters, including Chairman Herbert Brownell, are confident they'll find plenty in a few months, are hoping that Truman stubs a few toes politically soon. . . . Republican Chairman Brownell has a million dollars to spend on the elections. . . .

Truman's cabinet changes thus far have been extremely popular. . . . Tall, scholarly new Labor Secretary Schwelienbach has made scores of friends for his department, has infused new life among its weary employees, has made an A-1 impression on congress. . . .

Ex-Congressman Clint Anderson has the hottest job in the new administration trying to straighten out the tangled food mess as secretary of agriculture. . . . Anderson is a great red-tape shearer, has already made big improvements, and is no oushover for lobbyists.

Farm Accident Costs Continue to Mount

Most Losses Can Be Prevented Entirely

By W. J. DRYDEN

Accidents to farmers, in a typical year, lost double the amount of time needed to produce the average annual wheat crop of the United States. The economic loss from accidents of all kinds occurring to farm people is nearly a billion dollars per year. In a typical year: 17,200 farm people were killed. 4,500 were killed at agricultural work.

1,500,000 rural residents were injured. Of the 17,200 accidental deaths among farm people, nearly half were the result of accidents similar to those in urban homes, due to falls, burns, poisons, firearms and drowning.

The greatest number of fatal accidents to farm workers occurred while oiling, unclogging or adjusting moving farm machinery. Some farmers were killed when tractors tipped over, but, next to machinery, the commonest accidents were caused by livestock—by the startled horse or the bull that everyone thought was tame.

Don't adjust moving belts.

Motor vehicle accidents not associated with farm work took the lives of 3,700 rural people. The week commencing July 22 has been designated by President Truman as National Farm Safety week.

Hunt Started for Meatier Market Fowl Major poultry associations, key poultrymen and U.S.D.A. specialists have undertaken an assignment from the A & P Food stores to draw up specifications for an ideal meat-type bird and to supervise distribution of $8,000 in awards which the company has posted.

The committee, headed by D. D. Slade, secretary, International Baby Chick association, believes the program will crystallize thinking among poultry breeders and hatcherymen on a chicken with an abundance of "carvings." A broad-breasted chicken would mean more economical growth, more meat per pound of feed consumed, and more profits to poultrymen. A prize of $5,000 will be given to the poultryman breeding the best bird at the end of three years. Annual progress awards will total $3,000.

Water for Chickens

In order that fresh water may be provided for the chickens and be kept clean, the cover shown in this illustration is recommended. It may be used with water basin or some form of automatic water fountain.

Alfalfa Adds Nitrogen

When alfalfa is fed on the farm where it is grown and the manure is returned to the land, there would be a large gain in nitrogen and the phosphorus and potassium loss would be greatly reduced.

At the University of Illinois, it was observed that when a ton of hay is sold, 37 pounds of nitrogen obtained from the air goes with no gain to the grower, but rather as a gain to the buyer of the hay. By feeding the alfalfa and using manure, this loss is reduced.

Hormone sprays, or pre-harvest fruit - drop inhibitors, containing naphthalene acetic acid as the active ingredient, were used both in spray and dust form by many apple and pear growers throughout the country in 1944.

Add Water to Tires

There are no ill effects from filling tires completely with a water solution of calcium chloride. Completely filled tires have an advantage in that pressure is automatically increased as the tires are overloaded, thus avoiding the usual necessity for adding more air and using higher pressures in proportion to heavier tire loads.

Resistance to bruising and punctures is not affected by the percentage of liquid fill.

Things You Knew All Along: (But Which I Didden Know 'Til Now)

Scientists claim singing inspires robust health. Yodeling is supposed to invigorate the circulation, revitalize the tissues, eliminate toxins and strengthen the throat and lungs. (Oh, sure. That's why Sinatra is the cave man type.)

Patrick Henry was one of the world's great orators, but he couldn't write a memorandum that made sense.

Verdi's biggest competitor was Enrico Patrella, who aped his style. Patrella penned twenty operas (now forgotten) and died in poverty. Famed Verdi died a millionaire. (Copycats, beware.)

Caligula, a Roman emperor, made guests pay for their meals.

Think double features are bad? A Buenos Aires movie house exhibits five different films daily. (A cure for insomnia?)

A Rajah in India has a billion dollar a year income. (He's almost as prosperous as the owner of a hot dawg stand on the road to ruin.)

Mozart was an enthusiastic billiard player. Much of his music was composed while awaiting his turn. (I don't believe it, either.)

A sneeze lasts about a tenth of a second. (Or just long enough to ruin the big scene.)

The first railroad tunnel in the U. S. was built in 1833 near Johnstown, Pa. (And you always thought the only famous thing about Johnstown was the flood.)

About sixteen million thunderstorms occur each year throughout the world. (That's what the man said.)

Poison ivy is most poisonous in the spring and early summer when the sap is most abundant. (So stay in the city and out of the bushes, you dope.)

The building of railways in England was at first forbidden by Parliament. Because it would interfere with fox-hunting. (You've probably heard this definition of a fox: He gets what a wolf goes after.)

You can't hide strong emotions from the tips of your fingers and toes. When you're excited they get cold.

Gobbling too much sweet food makes the body susceptible to colds. (Your medico would charge money for this kind of information, you lucky you.)

Oranges contain practically no starch. (Ain't that wonderful news, girls????)

Typing for 45 minutes burns up 100 calories. (Which makes this a 200 calorie colyum.)

In the 19th Century, Kalesnikoff, a Russian shoemaker, distinguished himself as a doctor and rapidly rose to the office of chief surgeon at the Kieff Hosp. He performed 600 major operations before his deception was uncovered. (Try and top that, Dr. Kildare.)

In Siam a man is allowed only one divorce, but he can sell his other wives.

"New" and "old" potatoes have about the same nutritional value. (So don't be so fussy.)

When Mount Pelee (a volcano on the West Indian island of Martinique) erupted some time ago, it killed all of the 26,000 inhabitants of the town of St. Pierre but one. That one was a prisoner in the town jail. (Make your own moral.)

Our universe is one solid mass traveling at 180 miles per minute. (Correct, Prof. Einstein?)

This is the origin of the word "cop." London's first police force wore blue uniforms with large copper buttons. These buttons gave the police the name copper, later shortened to cop. (Ho-hum!!!)

Snapping turtles have been known to bite completely through an oar. (Ain't that oarful?)

A halibut always lies on its left side, and both its eyes are on the right. (Gruesome, ain't it??)

Lack of common salt actually caused Napoleon's failure before Moscow. Because his soldiers didn't have sufficient salt in their diets, their wounds refused to heal and their systems were unable to repel disease. (Amazing what you can find in books.)

W. Va. has a law which makes it illegal for an alien to own a dog.

May is the only month in which a U. S. President has neither been born nor died.

Sightless Actresses Use Ingenious Tricks in Acts

The Lighthouse Players, a group of blind women who present a number of plays in New York each season, employ ingenious tricks to enable them to move about and do their bits of stage business as naturally as actors with sight, says Collier's. For example, they use strips of carpet, 18 inches wide, to guide them to doors, windows, chairs and other props.

They click the teaspoon when passing a cup of tea, so the recipient will know where to reach for the saucer without fumbling; and they fold down a corner of a newspaper or magazine that is to be picked up and glanced through, so they will not "read" it upside down.

WOMEN '38 to '52' are you embarrassed by HOT FLASHES?

If you suffer from hot flashes, feel weak, nervous, highstrung, a bit blue at times--due to the functional "middle-age" period peculiar to women--try this great medicine--Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. Pinkham's Compound means nature. It's one of the best known medicines for this purpose. Follow label directions.

When Your Back Hurts--

And Your Strength and Energy Is Below Par

It may be caused by disorder of kidney function that permits poisonous waste to accumulate. For truly many people feel tired, weak and miserable when the kidneys fail to remove excess acids and other waste matter from the blood. You may suffer nagging backache, rheumatic pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling. Sometimes frequent and scanty urination with smarting and burning is another sign that something is wrong with the kidneys or bladder. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. It is better to rely on a medicine that has won countrywide approval than on something less favorably known. Doan's have been tried and tested many years. Are at all drug stores. Get Doan's today.
